

Message to the national contact persons of AAATE

Cc Board of the AAATE

Heerlen, March 18th.

Dear AAATE contact person,

On behalf of a consortium consisting of 7 universities and universities of applied science in Europe I want to inform you about a project that is currently being developed.

It's aim is the development of a EU academic master Care and Technology. It is positioned as a professional master for applicants who have completed a bachelor degree either in the care or in the technological domain. The course will be presented the European qualification level of master degrees but its accreditation will be done according to the regulations in Dutch Law.

Attached you will find a brief document highlighting the characteristics of the course currently under development.

As part of the documentation that is needed to obtain approval of this Master a report on needs and potential in the European market position for candidates having completed this course is required. To obtain that insight we call on the assistance of AAATE. We would like to address the AAATE national contact persons to support us in answering the following questions.

The leaflet attached will be given as background information:

- a) Are you able to deliver contact data of human resource management officials in 2 organizations in longitudinal care, 2 in extramural care and 2 in medical care.
- b) Are you able to deliver contact data of human resource management officials in 2 medical technology organizations.

We will send a brief enquiry to these persons with questions related to the potential labor conditions of laureates of the EU master C&T.

As a national contact person to AAATE we would like to address the following questions to you directly:

- a) To what extent will a degree accredited according to Dutch law be valid in your country.
- b) to what extent are (professional) master courses in your country paid for by government and of privately paid for.
- c) are you aware of a similar initiative in your country with regard to academic education in the domain of Care and Technology professions.

We appreciate it if you are able to provide the answers within a period of 3 weeks.
Looking forward to your response.

With kind regards,

Dr. Charles G.Willems
